The Department of Curriculum and Instruction seeks clinical assistant professor of Literacy and Language Education with a specialization in English Language Learning beginning August 12, 2019. The successful candidates will be required to:

Teach online courses in the Graduate Licensure Program in English Language Learning and related graduate and undergraduate courses in English learning, as necessary.

This is an academic year clinical faculty position with reappointments in 3-year contractual terms. Clinical appointments are non-tenure track but with the potential for promotion in rank. The position also includes the possibility of summer employment. Responsibilities include:

- teaching in-service and pre-service teachers enrolled in the ELL program
- advising graduate students and chairing graduate committees
- participating in program administration and recruitment

Earned doctorate in ELLTESOL or a closely related field. The ability to speak a language other than English is preferred. Strong written and oral communication skills are required. We seek a candidate with a strong commitment to diversity who will promote a multicultural atmosphere in teaching. The successful candidate will possess:

- understanding of second language acquisition and English language development
- understanding of content-area instruction for English language learners
- understanding of language teaching, learning, and assessment
- understanding of applied linguistics as related to ELL instruction
- familiarity with K-12 ELL education programs
- experience with online teaching
- classroom ELL teaching experience at the K-12 level

Visit our website for a more complete description at: https://www.education.purdue.edu/about/employment/

Review of applications will begin October 15, 2018, and will continue until the position is filled. Applicants should apply electronically by sending the following as a single PDF document to deardoka@purdue.edu: (1) a letter of application, (2) current curriculum vita, (3) statement of teaching philosophy, (4) a writing sample (e.g., published article, conference proceedings, book chapter) and (5) three letters of recommendation submitted by individual referees under separate cover. Inquiries about the position should be directed to:

Inquiries about the position may be directed to: Susan Britsch at sbritsch@purdue.edu

Purdue University, College of Education is committed to advancing diversity in all areas of faculty effort, including scholarship, instruction, and engagement. Candidates should address at least one of these areas in their cover letter, indicating their experiences, current interests or activities, and/or future goals to promote a climate that values diversity and inclusion.

A BACKGROUND CHECK IS REQUIRED FOR EMPLOYMENT IN THIS POSITION.

PURDUE UNIVERSITY IS AN EEO/AA EMPLOYER. ALL INDIVIDUALS, INCLUDING MINORITIES, WOMEN, INDIVIDUALS WITH DISABILITIES, AND VETERANS ARE ENCOURAGED TO APPLY.